Studie a texty ETF

Studie a texty Evangelické teologické fakulty (eng. Studies and Texts of the Evangelical Theological Faculty) is a peer-reviewed scientific journal, whose mission is primarily to publish the results of original research activities at the Evangelical Theological Faculty and other professional theological institutes in the Czech Republic. In addition to the original research works, it also brings overview works, informing about the current state of research in individual theological fields, as well as critical editions and translations of historically important texts. The thematic focus on theology does not preclude the publication of works in related fields (linguistics, literary science, archeology, philosophy, etc.).
