Non-project mobility of CU staff and students within 4EU+

Non-project mobilities within the 4EU+ Alliance are those mobilities that take place at partner universities of the 4EU+ Alliance without being linked to a specific approved project (EDU projects, SEED4EU+, mini-grants, etc.). This also includes mobilities that do not take place directly at partner institutions, but have an obvious link to the Alliance activities (e.g. presentation of an Alliance project results, expansion of alliance cooperation, etc.).

For such mobilities, it is possible to apply for financial support from the 4EU+ budget. Selections are held 4 times a year (in March, June, September and December), each for the following two quarters.

Further information, including a description of the procedures and the online application form, can be found here (for English scroll down).

The announcement of the call for the SYLF scholarship program

The SYLFF fellowship program of the Tokyo Foundation for Policy Research (TKFD) supports the education of outstanding PhD students with leadership potential who stand out in terms of their personality, academic results, dissertation topic, and vision. The University Committee will select the top two candidates and nominate them to the Tokyo Foundation for Policy Research in Japan. They will then decide on their approval and on the award of the scholarship.

More detailed information about the program and the selection procedure is available on this website .

Bridging Gaps 2024 – call for application

Bridging Gaps is an initiative of the Centre for Contextual Biblical Interpretation (CCBI), a cooperation of the Faculty of Religion and Theology of the Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam (FRT, VU Amsterdam) and the Protestant Theological University (PThU), and together with the Dutch organisation Kerk in Actie and other partners.

The Bridging Gaps program enables students from Latin America, Eastern Europe, Africa, Asia and the Middle East to work on their own research for a period of three months under auspices of a supervisor of the VU Amsterdam or the PThU. During the program students will get exposed to Dutch society and church life together with other theology students from all around the world.

In the enclosed brochure you can find detailed information about the background and the content of the program, the application criteria and selection procedure, and what candidates can expect from our side.

The deadline for application is 14th of January 2024.

Potential applicants can inquire about the procedure at the International office of the Faculty. Make an appointment in advance by email .
