International Days in Social Work 2025

The Hidden Treasures of Social Work

April 28–30, 2025

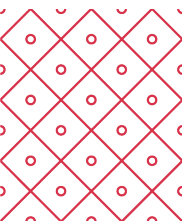

Protestant Theological Faculty, Charles University
646/9 Černá, 110 00 Prague 1, Czech Republic

In societies, social work often remains hardly visible, though it helps to improve human lives and sustain social cohesion in an unstable and permanently transforming world.

Reminder

Dear colleagues,

please accept a kind reminder of the International Days in Social Work that will be organised by the Department of Social Work, Protestant Theological Faculty of the Charles University Prague, Czech Republic, in April 28–30. 2025.

The introductory information can be found at the faculty webpage and we kindly refer you to the link: link.cuni.cz/IDSW25_PTF and to the already emailed information.

Here you can also download the information in .PDF format and the registration link.

In the meantime, we have made a few steps in preparation of the programme. In this document you will find an outline of the programme that may help you decide to participate.

Generally speaking, the programme will consist of lectures or workshops given by local and incoming teachers, school presentations, plenary discussions, presentations of social services providers, site visits, optional (PhD) students section and student group activities.

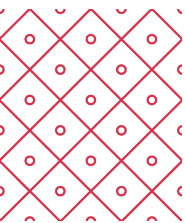

In the programme there is still space enough for lectures or workshops given by incoming teachers, the google form contains boxes to put the title and annotation of your contribution.

The fee mentioned for registered incoming participants covers one lunch, one teachers dinner, 4 coffee breaks, three days pass on Prague public transport, costs related to site visits and handouts.
